Serbia, officially the Republic of Serbia, is a landlocked country located at the crossroads of Central and Southeast Europe, covering the southern part of the Carpathian basin and the central part of the Balkans. Serbia borders Hungary to the north; Romania and Bulgaria to the east; the Republic of Macedonia to the south; and Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Montenegro to the west; additionally, it borders Albania through Kosovo, whose status as part of Serbia is disputed. Serbia covers an area of 88,361 km² and has a population of just over 7.1 million, while the capital and largest city is Belgrade.

Serbia is a member of the UN, Council of Europe, OSCE, PfP, BSEC and CEFTA. It is also an official candidate for membership in the European Union and a neutral country.

The name "Serbia" was first mentioned as Greek: Σέρβια, meaning "land of the Serbs". There are many theories regarding the origin of the name of the Serbs. The most likely is that it is derived from the Old Slavic root "serb-", meaning "same". Another proposed etymology is that of the Indo-European root "ser-" "to watch over, protect", akin to Latin servare "to keep, guard, protect, preserve, observe".

Located at the crossroads between Central and Southern Europe Serbia is found in the Balkan peninsula and the Pannonian Plain. Including Kosovo, it lies between latitudes 41° and 47° N, and longitudes 18° and 23° E. The country has several notable topographical features: the Pannonian Plain (mainly Vojvodina) and river lowlands, the Balkan and Carpathian Mountains, the Dinaric Alps, along with hillside stretching across central part of Serbia. The Danube passes through Serbia with 21% of its overall length, joined by its biggest tributaries, the Sava and Tisa rivers. The province of Vojvodina covers the northern third of the country, and is entirely located within the Central European Pannonian Plain. Dinaric Alps, gradually rising towards south, cover most of western and central Serbia. The easternmost tip of Serbia extends into the Wallachian Plain. The eastern border of the country intersects with the Carpathian Mountain range, which run through the whole of Central Europe.

The Southern Carpathians meet the Balkan Mountains, following the course of the Great Morava, a 500 km long river. The Midžor peak is the highest point in eastern Serbia at 2156 m. In the southeast, the Balkan Mountains meet the Rhodope Mountains. The Šar Mountains of Kosovo form the border with Albania, with one of the highest peaks in the region, Đeravica, reaching 2656 meters at its peak. Dinaric Alps of Serbia follow the flow of the Drina river, overlooking the Dinaric peaks on the opposite shore in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

ABOUT SERBIA

Niš

Niš is the largest city of southern Serbia and the third-largest city in Serbia (after Belgrade and Novi Sad). According to the preliminary results of the 2011 census, the city has an urban population of 182,208 inhabitants, while its municipality has a population of 257,867. The city covers an area of 597 km², including the urban core, town of Niška Banja and 68 suburbs. Niš is the administrative center of the Nišava District.

Niš is one of the most important industrial centers in Serbia, a center of electronics industry, industry of mechanical engineering, textile and tobacco industry. Constantine the Great Airport is its international airport. In 2013 the city will host the celebration of 1700 years of Constantine's Edict of Milan.

History of Niš

It is one of the oldest cities in the Balkans and Europe, and has from ancient times been considered a gateway between the East and the West. The Paleo-Balkan Thracians first inhabited the area in the Iron Age, and Triballians dwelled here prior to the Celtic invasion in 279 BC which established the Scordisci as masters of the region. Modern-day Niš was among the cities taken in the Roman conquest in 75 BC. The Romans built the Via Militaris in the 1st century, with Naissus being one of the key towns. Niš is also notable as the birthplace of Constantine the Great, the first Christian Roman Emperor and the founder of Constantinople, as well as two other Roman emperors, Constantius III and Justin I. It is home to one of Serbia's oldest churches dating to the 4th century AD in the suburb of Mediana.

Tourist Sites you should visit

- Čegar .The place where Battle on Čegar Hill took place on May 19, 1809.
- Crveni Krst concentration camp - One of the few preserved Nazi concentration camps in Europe. It is located on '12 February Boulevard'.
- Bubanj - Monument to fallen Yugoslav WWII fighters, forming the shape of three clenched fists. The place where 10,000 civilian hostages from Niš and south Serbia were brutally murdered by German Nazis.
- Kalča, City passage and Gorča - Trade centers situated in Milana Obrenovića Street.
- Memorial Chapel in the memory of NATO bombing victims - The chapel was built by of Niš local authorities while the monument was built by the State government in 1999. They are situated in Sumatovačka street near Nis Fortress.
- Niš Fortress .The remaining fortification was built by the Turks, and dates from the first decades of the 18th century (1719–1723). It is situated in the city center.
- The fortress-cafes - They are situated near Stambol gate (the main gate of the fortress).
- Archeological site, an Imperial villa, from the late Roman period located on the road leading to Sofia near EI Nis.
- Banja (Niš spa) - A very popular spa during the summer season. It is located at 10km from city center on the road leading to Sofia, in the bottom of Suva Planina Mountain.
- Alley - An old urban downtown zone in today's Kopitareva Street, built in the first half of 18th century. It was a street full of tinkers and other craftsmen, but today it is packed with cafes and restaurants.
- Skull Tower (Serbian: Теле Кула, Čele Kula) - A monument to the Serbian revolutionaries (1804–1813). A tower made out of skulls of Serbian uprisers, killed and decapitated by the Ottomans. It is situated on Zoran Đinđić Boulevard, on the old Constantinople road leading to Sofia.
- Spa of Topilo

PUBLIC TRANSPORT IN NIŠ

The public transport in Niš consists of buses and taxis. The regular bus transport starts around 5am and finishes around 11:30pm. The bus ticket costs 45 dinars and you can bought it in the bus.

Taxi service is easy to get and it is very affordable. The fares are 100 dinars for start and 40 dinars per each kilometer. Taxi companies that we recommend are: Naissus and Broz. Be careful with wild taxi drivers that can charge you much more than expected.

CLIMATE

On the macro-level, the climate of Serbia is under the influences of the Atlantic Ocean and Mediterranean Sea and the landmass of Eurasia.

The summers are pretty hot and dry. The weather at daytime is usually sunny with temperatures from 30 to 36°C, but often it can reach 40°C. At nighttime the temperature drops, it is cooler, but it isn't cold (temp. around 25°C). There might be changes in weather; thunderstorms, cold wave etc., but generally speaking it is hot and dry.

During the winter it is pretty cold. The average temperatures are around 0°C or below with minimum temperature of -20°C. The winters can be snowy, dry or rainy, but in any case warm clothes are needed. The seasons are very marked and they change in this order: March – May = spring; May – September = summer; September – December = autumn; December – March = winter.

CLOTHES

If you visit Serbia during the summer, light clothes with bright colors is what you should bring mostly. Also, don't forget your swimsuit, sun glasses and sun protection cream. There might be some rainy and cooler days, so it is advisable to bring an umbrella and a jacket.

During the winter all you need is warm clothes and winter jacket. It is good to have winter shoes too, since some winters might be very snowy.

Formal clothes are usually not required at work. Even if you don't have to wear formal clothes every day it's good to have some for special meetings or events.
